REDESIGNING WELFARE IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

29TH NOVEMBER 2013

Centro Congressi Fondazione Cariplo
via Romagnosi, 8 | Milan

“Redesigning Welfare in the Mediterranean” is the second in a series of meetings on the welfare system promoted by Fondazione Cariplo and Compagnia di San Paolo.

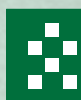

The first of these meetings titled “Joining forces. Redesigning Italy’s welfare system” was held in Turin on May 6, 2013 and highlighted the pressing need for the comprehensive, long-term redesign of Italy’s welfare system, engaging individuals and families, the EU and its Member States, local governments, civil society organizations, businesses and the market, in this process.

The second meeting in the series takes a look also at other Mediterranean countries - Portugal, Spain and Greece - that in the current economic and financial crisis are working on a major reform of their welfare system or are already implementing it.

In addition to providing an overview of other welfare systems, analyses of the causes of the crisis and possible solutions to it, the meeting will bring together representatives from some of the major Foundations operating in the Mediterranean region to discuss current challenges. The presentation of case studies will provide food for thought in the debate about the role of foundations in reshaping welfare models.
